Requesting Copies of Your UW Health Medical Records and Understanding Your Health Insurance Coverage and Bills

Requesting medical records

You may request copies of your UW Health medical records, radiology images and pathology reports and slides. For more information, visit uwhealth.org

Understanding your UW Health bills

UW Health will review your health insurance coverage, including any insurance requirements for preauthorization or notification, and submit claims to your health insurance on your behalf. After your insurance company has processed the claim and paid its portion, you will be responsible for the remaining balance. If you have questions about your health insurance coverage, your visit, or to discuss payment options or financial assistance, please call (608) 263-8770 to speak with a financial counselor.

The hospital and its associated clinics and our physician group and its associated clinics have separate billing regulatory requirements.

Your bill may list professional services and hospital/clinic services separately:

- Professional charges are for services provided by physicians, physician assistants and nurse practitioners
- Hospital/clinic charges are for supplies, services and facility costs that may be part of your care

Depending on your insurance plan, you may be subject to different out-of-pocket costs when treated at a hospital-based clinic. Some insurers pay hospital/clinic charges differently than professional charges. Please review your benefits handbook.

Frequently Asked Billing Questions

What is covered by my health insurance policy?

Every health insurance policy is different. The best way to find out what your health insurance will cover is to contact your insurance company. It is important to find out if you will have to pay part of the bill (a deductible and/or co-payments or coinsurance). Patients are responsible for knowing what their insurance covers.

Can I find out how much my services will cost?

UW Health offers a service called UW Health Priceline. You may call (608) 263-1507 and ask for a price estimate. Please note that you will be given a price range, rather than a specific estimate, as the final charges are based on a variety of factors related to the clinical service provided, the diagnoses associated with those services, supplies used, etc.

How do co-payments work?

You are responsible for paying your co-payment when you check in at your appointment. We will bill you if you do not pay at your appointment.

How can I be sure that I get the best coverage possible under my insurance policy?

Some health insurance policies require you to get a referral from your doctor before you get certain services. Some also require you to tell your health insurance company after you have received emergency care, usually within a very short time of receiving that care. Please contact your health insurance company to find out how to receive the best possible coverage.

How do I file a health insurance claim?

Because forms can be complex and confusing, we will file claims for you. To do this we need your correct insurance information. Please let us know as soon as possible if you change health insurance or if you move.

How will my insurance company handle payment?

In Wisconsin, your insurance company must pay for covered services within 30 days of billing. We will allow up to 45 days for your insurer to pay us. If your insurance does not pay in that time, we will bill you. When you receive your bill, you are responsible for paying any charges not covered by your insurance. If you are unable to make a full payment, arrangements can be made. Please call the telephone number shown on your bill if you have any questions about payment or need assistance. We file your insurance claim as a courtesy and allow sufficient time for insurance payment. In the end, you are responsible for your health care charges if your insurer does not pay.

Can my insurance company pay UW Health directly?

Yes. If your health insurance company does not pay us directly, you must pay us immediately upon receiving your insurance payment or receiving a bill from us.

What if I do not have health insurance?

If you do not have insurance, payment is due upon receiving your bill, unless you make other arrangements with us. To do so, call the telephone number shown on your bill. We will be happy to work with you to find satisfactory payment options.

Can I pay my bill online?

Yes. You may view options for paying your bill online at uwhealth.org/paperless. You may either pay through MyChart, a secure online website that allows you to receive and pay your bills as well as view portions of your UW Health medical record, receive test results, etc., or make a one-time payment.

Other settings include, but are not limited to, some University Community Clinics, Group Health Cooperative, UW Medical Foundation Physician's Clinics and UnityPoint Health-Meriter

Your request will be honored to the extent possible, if doing so will not negatively affect your care, treatment or services
2. Complete a Power of Attorney for Healthcare or Living Will (known as Advance Directives) if you are at least 18 years old. These legal documents tell us your wishes for future healthcare; the POA for Healthcare also allows you to appoint someone to make your healthcare decisions if you should become unable to do so. It is our policy to follow Advance Directives to the extent permitted by law
3. Identify a support person to be involved in care, treatment decisions and services (to the extent authorized by the patient)
4. Be involved in decisions about your healthcare and to agree to treatment before it is given, except in emergencies. When you are asked to agree to treatment, you will be told about your condition; the planned procedures or treatment; alternative treatments; the risks and side effects; what could happen if you don't get treatment for your condition; and how likely it is to be successful
5. Choose not to be treated. Your doctor will tell you what could happen if you don't get treatment. You are responsible for the results if you choose not to be treated or if you do not follow your doctor's instructions
6. Be informed about the outcomes of your care, including unexpected outcomes
7. Refuse to participate in research and experimental treatment
8. Participate in discussion of ethical issues related to your care. Such issues might include not starting or stopping life-sustaining medical treatment and questions about research or clinical trials you might be involved in. # Rapid Response Team

Our Rapid Response Team

At UW Health, we strive to ensure the safety of our patients. As part of this effort, we created a Rapid Response Team. When a patient has an emergency or change in condition that requires the attention of a health care provider, our Rapid Response Team quickly meets the needs of the patient.

Reasons for calling the Rapid Response Team include:

- High or low blood pressure
- High or low heart rate
- Problems breathing
- Chest pain
- Facial droop, arm or leg weakness, problems speaking
- Unable to waken
- Any time the family or nurse is concerned about the patient's condition
- New or increased confusion

Family Role in the Rapid Response Team

As family members, you play a special role in the care your loved one receives. Please tell nursing staff when you feel there is a change in your loved one's condition. You know your loved one best, so you may be the first to notice a change.

Please talk with us on a regular basis about the care of your loved one. This is even more important when patients are not able to speak for themselves.

Be involved in the plan of care for your loved one. Share concerns and provide feedback about the plan of care.

Ask questions and speak up about a test, procedure or medicines.
