In choosing a residency it is important to consider the community in which you will live and spend time away from work, and Madison has few peers. Come see for yourself! The following represent just a fraction of the accolades Madison has recently received in the national press:

2013
- Madison was voted the “best college football town” in a USA Today poll.
- Madison was ranked #8 by Parenting as a “Top 10 Best City for Families.”
- UW Hospital and Clinics was named one of the top 100 employers for working parents by Working Mother magazine.
- UW-Madison is one of only six American public universities to place in the top 25 and the highest in the Big Ten.

2012
- #1: America’s Best College Sports Town, ESPN - SVP Show
- #1: America’s Best City for Men, Men’s Health Magazine
- #1: America’s Best Job Markets, Portfolio
- #3: America’s Best Cities for Young Professionals, Forbes Magazine

2011
- #1: Most Educated City in America, Men’s Health Magazine
- #2: Best Place for College Graduate, The Daily Beast.com
- #10: Best Place to Live in America, Outside Magazine

2010
- #1: Most Educated City in America, Men’s Health Magazine
- #2: Best Place for College Graduates, The Daily Beast.com
- #5: Best Place to Live in America, Outside Magazine

Moring Emergency Medicine Forward

emed.wisc.edu
At the University of Wisconsin, we have high aspirations for our residents. Our goal is to guide you first place. Through it all, an emphasis on patient and family-centered care will keep you needed to practice emergency medicine in the most challenging of environments, when lives are. Our training program aims to give you skills that will be useful today, tomorrow, and over the course of your career. We will provide you cutting-edge resources (e.g. multimedia educational platforms, real-time evaluative tools) so you can provide evidence-based care at the bedside, and make doing so a cutting-edge resources (e.g. multimedia educational platforms, real-time evaluative tools) so you can provide evidence-based care at the bedside, and make doing so a cutting-edge resources (e.g. multimedia educational platforms, real-time evaluative tools) so you can provide evidence-based care at the bedside, and make doing so a cutting-edge resources (e.g. multimedia educational platforms, real-time evaluative tools) so you can provide evidence-based care at the bedside, and make doing so a.
