Caring for Your Peritoneal Dialysis Catheter

The dressing on your abdomen should stay clean, dry, and firmly taped. Do not take showers or baths. Do not get the dressings wet until the Peritoneal Dialysis staff tells you it is okay. If the dressings become loose, add more tape and gauze if needed.

Do not lift more than 15 pounds for the 1st week. Then lift no more than 30 pounds for 2 months.

Avoid straining while having a bowel movement.

The nurses in Peritoneal Dialysis will change the dressings when you return for your next visit. At that time, they will set up weekly visits for you. At these visits, the nurse will change your dressing. The nurse will also run some fluids in and out of the catheter to make sure it works well. This will be done weekly until you are fully healed and you begin training for home dialysis. This will be in about 3-4 weeks or as determined by your doctor.

When to Call the PD Nurse or the Doctor

- Bloody dressings
- Wet dressings
- Abdominal pain, either deep inside you or on the surface. If pain is normal for you, call if you have more pain or if the pain changes.
- Fever more than 100.5°F or chills.
- Nausea and vomiting.

Phone numbers
